

Preparation for Worship

O God, light of the minds that know you,
life of the souls that love you,
strength of the thoughts that seek you:
Help us so to know you that we may truly love you,
so to love you that we may fully serve you,
whose service is perfect freedom;
through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

TOGETHER:
INTRODUCING THE PLEDGE THRU
FOR COMMITMENT SUNDAY

This Sunday, November 8, is Commitment Sunday and will feature donuts and coffee under Westminster’s own “golden arches” – The Niven Memorial Bell Tower. For generations members of Westminster have brought their pledges forward on Commitment Sunday as a public act of faithfulness. When we pledge we commit the fruits of our labor to one another, making our faithfulness known to our families, children, friends, and the gathered congregation. We align ourselves with the vision and values of this congregation, and commit to the ways God is working through us.

This year the bringing of our pledges will look a bit different but carry the same significance. If you are joining us in person, you will have an opportunity to drop your pledge card in baskets as you retire. For those who can’t join us or those who wish for another public act of faithfulness, you’re invited to participate in our Pledge Thru. From 2-5p this Sunday, drive through our “golden arches” (the Niven Memorial Bell Tower), and greet a pastor with your pledge card.

When you Pledge Thru you will experience the benefits of communal giving and, as a token of our gratitude during this difficult time, a custom WPC mug and (drum roll, please) a donut (COVID precautions honored!).

As always, you are also welcome to pledge online.

VOLUME LXXIII | NOVEMBER 8, 2020 | No. 26

From the Pews, Scott Broderick:

After meeting, dating, and becoming engaged, Denise and I began the search for a church that we could call home. Obviously, we chose Westminster Presbyterian. In retrospect, this was one of the defining moments of our life together and one of the best decisions we have ever made. Many aspects about the congregation and pastoral staff were behind our choice. Why? It was based on a multitude of reasons. However, the overarching theme behind our selection was the ability of this friendly, diverse congregation and pastorate to work TOGETHER to make the world a better place.

We as a congregation have been involved in innumerable activities. We have watched the nursery (sometimes even if we didn't have infants), taught all kinds of Sunday school classes, worked with the weekday school, participated on the Session, mentored our children, cared for our fellow members in need, and taken part in any number of mission activities. Sorry for the run-on sentence, but you get the message. Our family, as were many of yours, were involved in two different capital campaigns above and beyond our annual Stewardship contributions. At the time, some said the campaign goals were unattainable. Yet both were enthusiastically embraced and have led to the facilities, people and activities that are now Westminster Presbyterian. All these things exist because of our ability to work TOGETHER as a congregation. This is what Denise and I saw almost thirty years ago and what we have grown to love about our church and its congregation.

For all of Westminster's accomplishments over the years, the one that stands out the most to me is the breadth, quality, and success of our mission work. The history of our church and its congregation's engagement to missions is so vast that mention of any individual piece will not do it justice. From Meals on Wheels, Habitat, and IHN to Florida, Malawi and the DR our membership has joyfully and enthusiastically participated in making our world better. One of my mentors during my college years, who was also a member of my childhood church, stressed to me that no matter how beautiful a church might appear, its true essence is found in its people and their actions. Over the years, there is no better evidence of that statement than our congregation and the myriad of activities in which we participate.

As I watch the effect of the current events on the people in our community, nation, and world, I cannot think of a point in my life that the need for our commitment has been more evident. With all that each of us has experienced individually throughout the last year, it is time for us to consider those that are currently less fortunate. God is asking us to answer the call as a congregation. I have no doubt we can and will....TOGETHER.
