

Second Sunday in Lent

Preparation for Worship

Save us, O Lord, from being self-centered in our prayers, and teach us to remember to pray for others. May we be so caught up in love for those for whom we pray, that we may feel their needs as keenly as our own, and pray for them with imagination, sensitivity, and knowledge. We ask this in Christ's name. Amen.

John Calvin

Almighty God, we have become experts at deceiving ourselves. Rather than accepting the truth about the ways we live and love, we have been guided by idols and illusion. We have sought the affirmation of others, denied our own need for grace, and shied away from the work that repentance requires. Forgive us, Holy One, and remake us in the image of your Son. Help us to prize obedience to your will and way above all else. Let us not fear the narrow road, so that we would be ready to bear one another's burdens, and to live sacrificially for neighbor and stranger alike. We ask it in the name of Jesus Christ, our Lord and Savior. Amen.

IHN Update

Interfaith Hospitality Network, which has historically housed families with children experiencing homelessness in congregational buildings, including WPC's, is evaluating its programs in order to provide the best service possible. Following the pandemic, IHN served 95 individuals in 2021 and will continue housing families in hotels as emergency shelter through at least June. In a time of so much change and uncertainty, IHN's commitment to serving families with children experiencing homelessness is as deep as ever. Thank you for your support!

SUPPERS WITH SEVEN APRIL – MAY 2022

Spring is just around the corner and it's time to think about getting out and doing things. What about enjoying meals with other Westminster members? "Suppers With Seven" is seven (or so) persons - some couples, some singles, some older and some younger - gathering for a series of two or three meals at a time convenient to the group. It is a great way to establish or renew relationships with other Westminster members. To sign up, return this form to the church office, or fill out the online form on the church website by navigating to the Suppers With Seven page. Or, if you'd like someone to contact you, write "Suppers with 7" on your Connection Card. The deadline to sign up is Monday, March 21.

VOLUME LXXIV | March 13, 2022 | No. 45

From the Pews, Lauren Hood

Last Thursday, in the middle of my appointment, my esthetician asked, "What's Lent?" At first, I was surprised, but we ended up having a beautiful conversation about the commemoration of Jesus' time in the desert, using this time to take up a spiritual practice, and more. Her question wasn't what surprised me. It was the number of times I would answer that same question in a week. The Sunday before we had a Lent lesson in Youth Group, then a friend asked, then another friend, then my family, and so on. By the end of last week, I had my Lent elevator pitch perfected!

However, my definition has evolved much in the past decade or so. Middle school Lauren definitely thought Lent was a random reason to give up chocolate or soda for 40 days. I clearly remember on a field trip to Washington D.C. in 8th grade, our Catholic friends anxiously searched for fish meals, others convinced themselves Sprite didn't count as soda, and another group contemplated if dessert was allowed on Sundays. It all seemed silly to me yet extremely stressful and full of rules.

Around senior year of high school, a new definition emerged. One that focused less on giving something up, suffering, or arbitrary rules, but more on how we can refocus our attention to God. That resonated with me more. What can I add to my life to help me refocus on God? How can I become more aware of the Holy Spirit in our world? Is giving this thing up helping me refocus on God?

Lent is a beautiful opportunity to begin a morning ritual of reflective writing, having silent prayer on a morning walk, or intentionally texting one friend a day to check in. You may also find that giving something up, like social media, is a helpful way to refocus on God.

Rather than depriving ourselves from that yummy Easter candy, I encourage each of you to pick a discipline to add to your day that refocuses your attention to God. How can you intentionally pause to look for God in your life?

WESTMINSTER PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
THE THIRD DECADE 1967-1977

Sue Inman's wonderful 2007 book, Growing in Faith, A History of Westminster Presbyterian Church, called the church's third decade (1967-1977) "Early Adolescence." During this period, Westminster experienced growth and prosperity as well as some very difficult years, very similar to the life of an adolescent. Following John Haley's departure at the end of 1966, membership stood at 877 and we were fortunate to be led by two distinguished interim pastors. Dr. Marion Boggs, former Moderator of the General Assembly, served us for six months, followed by Dr. Joseph Gettys, Academic Dean of Presbyterian College in Clinton.

We celebrated Westminster's 20th anniversary in 1967 and I remember my mother being very busy as chair of that committee. It was a wonderful look back. A number of ministers, whom had either served the church or were instrumental in our founding, were on hand to participate in the event. Also in 1967, the Ritual of Friendship was created and is still used today to record members, visitors, and those wishing to join the church.

In the fall of 1967, Robert (Bob) P. Piephoff, a recent graduate of Columbia Seminary, was called and ordained as Assistant Pastor. (Bob would leave a year later to pursue post-graduate study.) Not long after Bob was hired, the Pastor Nominating Committee, chaired by Elder B.K. Bryan, presented the name of Dr. Alfred B. Montgomery, an Edinburgh PhD, as Westminster's third Senior Pastor. The church continued to grow following Al's arrival, and a number of hallmark events occurred in the life of the church over the next few years.

In 1968 Westminster became the first home for Meals on Wheels, Inc., which had been recently formed in Greenville. Many WPC members have delivered meals, served on the Board, and financially supported MOW for over 50 years. We continued ongoing support of the Jane Russell Chapel of Parker Heights, as well as other local missions.

In mid-July 1969, H. Alan Elmore was ordained and installed as Associate Pastor. Westminster's involvement in social issues continued throughout this period. Encounter groups were formed to facilitate communication and understanding between black and white Christians. Our Weekday School continued to grow; by the early 70s it was financially self-supporting. We were becoming a larger church; however, the congregation had never been closer. I will always remember the church's response when my father at age 50 had a massive heart attack in the fall of 1970. Westminster held a prayer vigil around the clock while our family waited to see if he would survive. Thanks to the prayers, he did survive and served in the church for another 27 years.

In mid-1971 Elder Arthur Magill offered a challenge gift of $100,000 to raise the necessary funds for a new fellowship building and gymnasium.

In mid-1971 Elder Arthur Magill offered a challenge gift of $100,000 to raise the necessary funds for a new fellowship building and gymnasium.

The new facility was dedicated during Westminster's 25th Anniversary celebration in late 1972. This building served us quite well for several decades until it was demolished to make way for the construction of the 3-story building, which now houses our fellowship hall, kitchen, gym, and church school classrooms.

Ever at the forefront of social change, Westminster elected our first female Deacon, Virginia Rubin, and our first female Elder, Martha Carpenter, during its third decade. New fellowship groups and community groups were formed. A pulpit exchange was held between WPC and the Israel Metropolitan Christian AME church to continue the improvement of race relations in Greenville. Westminster's church governance also changed during this period, when the Deacons and Elders were combined into one body – forming a unicameral government for the church. In 1972 we saw our own Sara "Doodle" Payne become the first female graduate of Union Seminary in Richmond, and be ordained into the Presbyterian Church U.S.

By the end of 1972 our membership peaked at 1,113; we were a large, well-established church, and even participated in the formation of a new church – St. Giles Presbyterian. That prosperity did not last, however. During the next five years, the relationship with the Senior Pastor began to deteriorate and division on the Session began to form. Financial problems caused the church to experience a budget deficit for the first time in its history. I remember my father and some of the Elders going to a local bank to sign a short term note to solve some of the immediate needs. During this dark period, church membership declined from a peak of over 1,100 members in 1972 to a low of 878 by 1976. Despite the exodus of many members, there were dedicated people I remember being more determined than ever to continue pursuing goals of Christian education, spiritual growth, pastoral care, fellowship, evangelism, and many others. In January 1977, Al Montgomery tendered his resignation as Senior Pastor and left by early summer.

A new Pastor Nominating Committee was installed shortly thereafter; however, for the next 19 months, Westminster was without a Senior Pastor. Fortunately, Associate Pastor Roy Lindahl and a dedicated Session held our family of faith together during this period. Although membership stood at a low of 741, better days were ahead.

My thanks to Sue Inman for her incredible book, Growing in Faith – A History of Westminster Presbyterian Church (2007). Her book was a great source of information for this, the third in a series of monthly articles on Westminster's history.

By the end of 1972 our membership peaked at 1,113; we were a large, well-established church, and even participated in the formation of a new church – St. Giles Presbyterian. That prosperity did not last, however. During the next five years, the relationship with the Senior Pastor began to deteriorate and division on the Session began to form. Financial problems caused the church to experience a budget deficit for the first time in its history. I remember my father and some of the Elders going to a local bank to sign a short term note to solve some of the immediate needs. During this dark period, church membership declined from a peak of over 1,100 members in 1972 to a low of 878 by 1976. Despite the exodus of many members, there were dedicated people I remember being more determined than ever to continue pursuing goals of Christian education, spiritual growth, pastoral care, fellowship, evangelism, and many others. In January 1977, Al Montgomery tendered his resignation as Senior Pastor and left by early summer.

A new Pastor Nominating Committee was installed shortly thereafter; however, for the next 19 months, Westminster was without a Senior Pastor. Fortunately, Associate Pastor Roy Lindahl and a dedicated Session held our family of faith together during this period. Although membership stood at a low of 741, better days were ahead.

My thanks to Sue Inman for her incredible book, Growing in Faith – A History of Westminster Presbyterian Church (2007). Her book was a great source of information for this, the third in a series of monthly articles on Westminster's history.
